opportunity and requirements of skilled human resources, he emphasized on the importance of skill development initiatives and e-learning modules in this digital era which offer easy and tailor-made specialized interested training courses. “There is a huge gap between demand and supply of skilled human resources in the logistics sector, which needs to be fulfilled by creating a talent pool. In this regard, ‘ease of learning will play a vital role’ through e-learning mechanisms as in today’s business ecosystem and busy schedules people can be trained conveniently” the FFFAI Chairman pointed out. He appealed to the industry stakeholders to avail of this opportunity in large numbers for the greater interest of the logistics sector.

Endorsing Mr. Shinde, Mr. Dushyant Mulani highlighted that FFFAI and IIFF are taking the skill development initiatives including the digital platform to a new high for the benefit of the Exim trade in the country.

According to Mr. Sanjay Tiwari, 21CC Education is driven by the mission to make learning fast, fun, gamified, and to the point. “Learn anywhere, anytime” is our motto. We help companies drive efficiency while helping employees gain a deeper understanding of their job roles. Our aim is to help your organization hire a skilled workforce and also provide blue-collar workers an opportunity to build their ‘skill passport’,” he said. The e-learning platform is available for both industry professionals as well as freshers. Mr. Tiwari further emphasised on the collaboration between FFFAI and 21CC in respect of content development as FFFAI has been deeply integrated with the freight forwarders & logistics professionals and their staff at the grassroots level through its 30 member associations across the country.

Mr. Vinod Sharma extended gratitude to all attendees and members for joining this insightful learning experience. He informed that more interactions on e-learning modules will be organized in the days to come to benefit the FFFAI members.
