Director General of Shipping Inaugurates Dual Fuel Engine Simulator and LNG Bunkering Simulator, at AEMTC, Mumbai

Shri. Shyam Jagannathan inaugurating the Dual Fuel 2 Stroke Engine Simulator in the Liquid Cargo Handling Simulator Room at AEMTC

Shri. Shyam Jagannathan, IAS, the Director General of Shipping, India visited the state-of-the-art Anglo-Eastern Maritime Training Centre (AEMTC) on 22nd September 2023. He was welcomed by Capt. K. N. Deboo, Vineet Gupta and Francis Akkara to the training centre. Shri. Jagannathan was given a tour of the facilities at AEMTC and a presentation providing details of the various trainings being carried out at Anglo-Eastern. He was visibly impressed with the transition training done for Indian Seafarers so that they get up-skilled to handle ships for 2030 and beyond.

Later, Shri. Shyam

Jagannathan inaugurated the newly acquired Dual Fuel 2 Stroke Engine Simulator in the Liquid Cargo Handling Simulator room at AEMTC. Faculty explained various aspects of dual-fuel engines, emission control regulations and LNG bunkering requirements and how the new generation engines are so sophisticated in comparison with the conventional engines. The Director General was very keen to know, how Indian seafarers can have a competitive edge in the International crewing market and in so doing provide a road map in providing adequately qualified crew to operate complicated engine room machinery and control systems and use of alternate fuels.

After having a working lunch at AEMTC cafeteria along with course participants, he visited both the Anglo-Eastern Crewing office and the Fleet Performance Centre located in the same building. Mr Vineet Gupta reiterated the faith that the top management of Anglo-Eastern Ship Management has in Indian seafarers and their commitment to recruit more and more crew from India thus maintaining Anglo-Eastern's status as the largest employer of Indian manpower, for the last 13 years and running.
