IRS holds Stakeholders Meet on Research and Development activities in Mumbai

Mr. N. Girish

Dr. Asokendu Samanta

Leading classification society Indian Register of Shipping (IRS) hosted a Stakeholder Meet on Research & Development activities at its Head Office in Mumbai, as part of its efforts to strengthen its initiatives in this field.

The meet was well-attended by representatives from ship owners, shipyards, designers, managers, and other maritime stakeholders. Several presentations related to R&D activities were made. The topics covered included Decarbonisation (Energy Saving Devices for EEXI and EEDI, Alternative Fuels, Wind Assisted Propulsion, Life Cycle Assessment), Advanced Analyses (Underwater radiated noise, Magnetic Signature, Predictive Analysis using Machine Learning), Disaster Management Plan, Software Development and Oil Spill Contingency Plan.

The stakeholders' meet was well appreciated by the participants and valuable inputs related to Research and Development activities were received from the industry. The event saw an engaging and interactive Q&A session towards the end of the presentations.

Mr. N. Girish, Divisional Head of Rule Development, Associated Research & External affairs Division said, "With rapidly changing regulatory environment, IRS is actively building its capabilities to help our customers meet the new requirements and be compliant with the new regulations".

Dr. Asokendu Samanta, Divisional Head of Research and Development Division said "Our Stakeholders and Customers were updated on the various research areas underway at IRS. This meet helped us understand the needs and expectations from the industry. We look forward to collaborating with industry partners to work on various emerging subjects, particularly on Decarbonisation".
